Re: United States v. Carollo, et al., 10 Cr. 654 (HB) (S.D.N.Y.)
Joint Request of Parties for Amended Post-trial Scheduling Order

Dear Judge Baer:

The Government respectfully writes to the Court on behalf of all parties to request an amendment to the Scheduling Order issued by the Court for post-trial motions, and setting dates for the Government's responses in opposition, and Defendants' reply briefs. The current due date for Defendants' motions is July 10, 2012.

The parties jointly request that the Court impose the following schedule:

1. Defendants shall serve all post-trial motions no later than July 13, 2012;
2. The Government's responses in opposition shall be served no later than August 27, 2012; and
3. Defendants' reply briefs shall be served no later than September 10, 2012.

The current date the Court has set for sentencing is October 11, 2012. The Government is prepared to provide any additional information should the Court so direct.

Respectfully submitted,

Trial Attorney
Antitrust Division

Endorsement:

I apparently misunderstood the request - my thought was that fully briefed motions would be on my desk on July 10 but I reviewed the transcript and while I don't believe such a long time is necessary I can see it was probably what was sought and I will allow the timetable you suggest. There is some room for page limits and thus defendants will have a total of 60 pages and can divide it up as they wish and the government a total of 40 pages - this includes moving papers, answering papers and reply.
